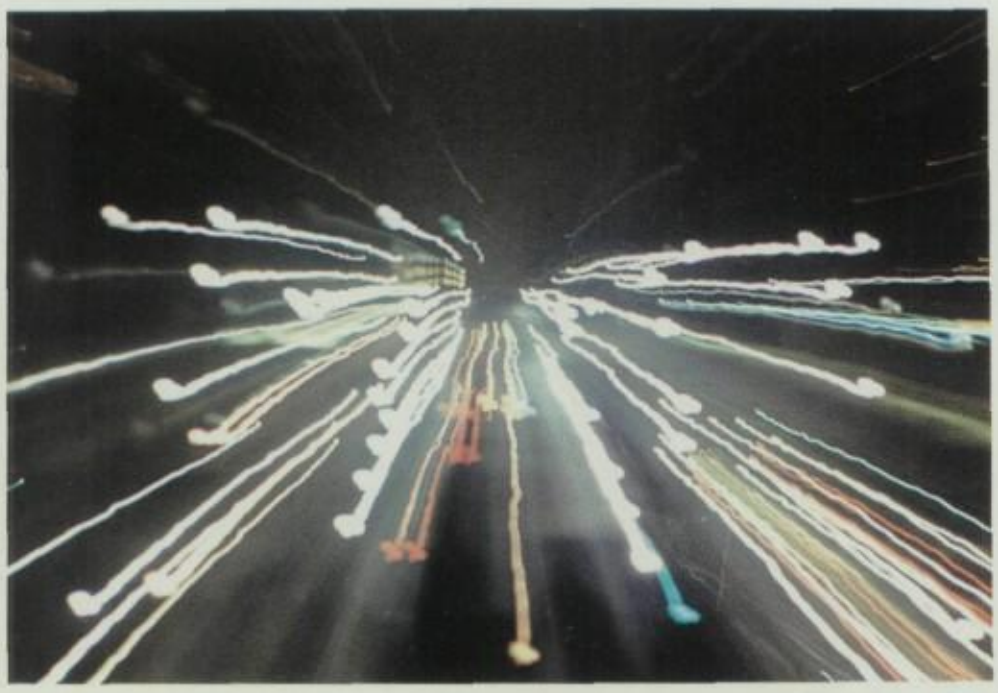
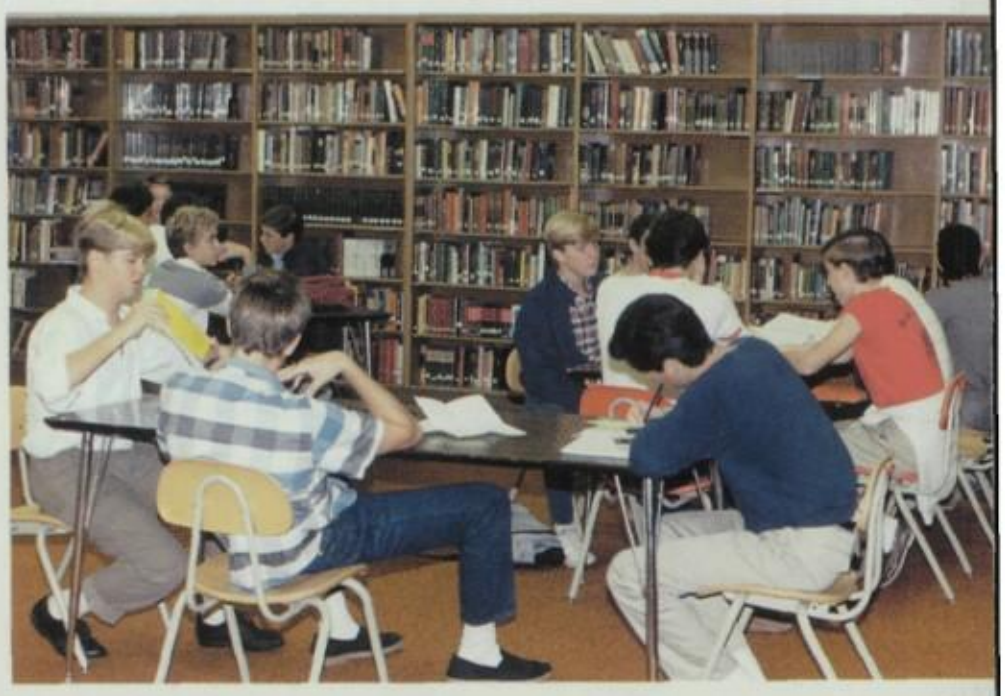
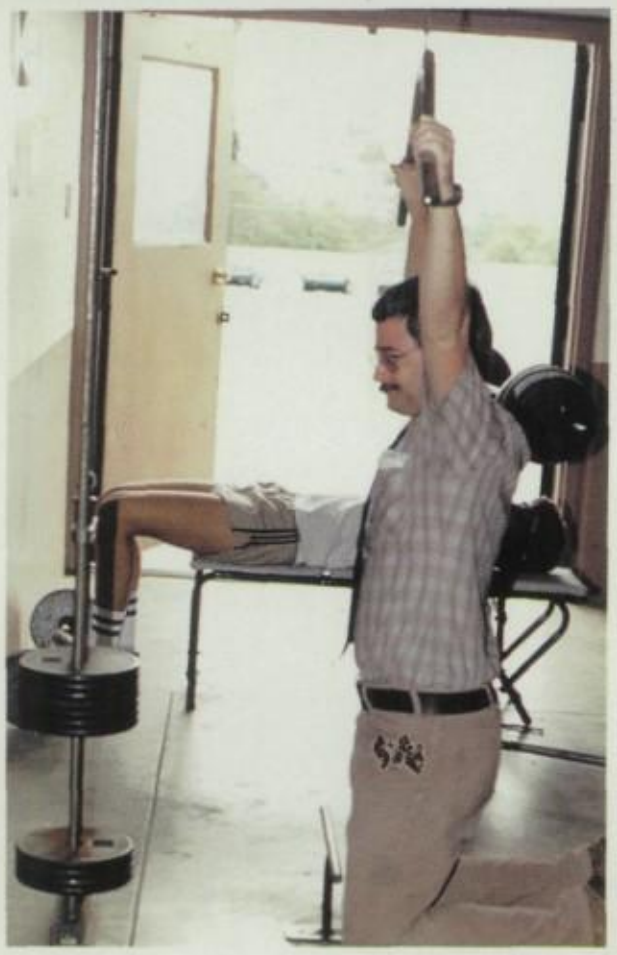
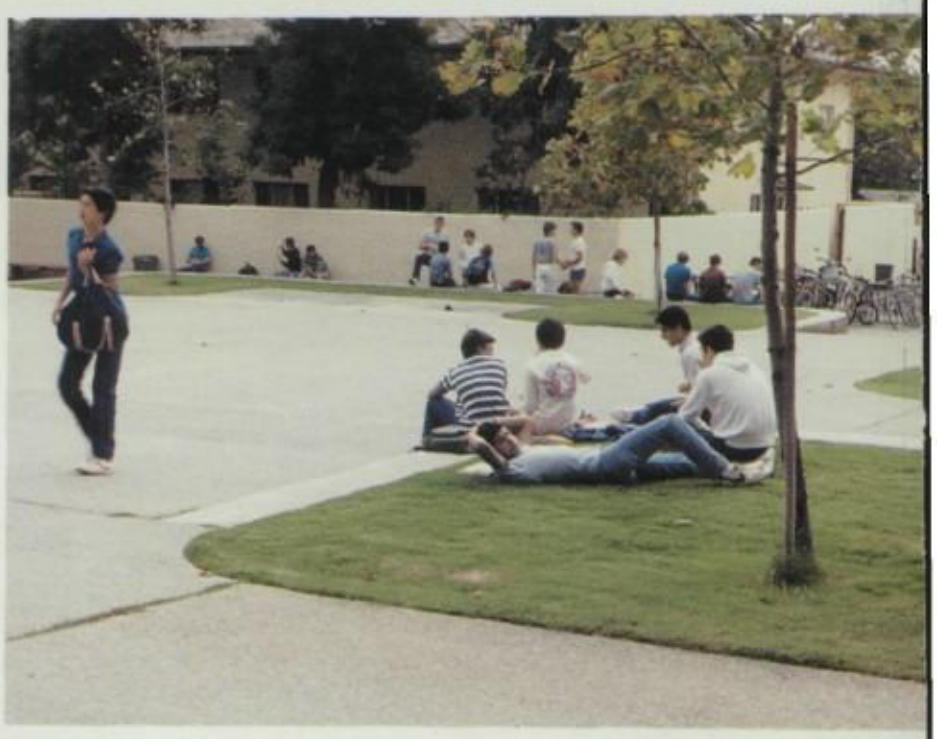
Each and every school is unique in the individuality of its students, their personality, and their academic interests. The students are, in fact, nurtured by the La Salle environment, and are exposed to paths of thought and action that enhance their own personal fortitudes. Yet, their character is molded by an even greater force. That force is the Los Angeles area itself, and the overwhelming influence that it has, due to the fact that it is a local student's "playground." It is on the basis of La Salle's location in this dynamic city that we on the Centurion Staff present to you a documentation of our environment - LIVING IN L.A.

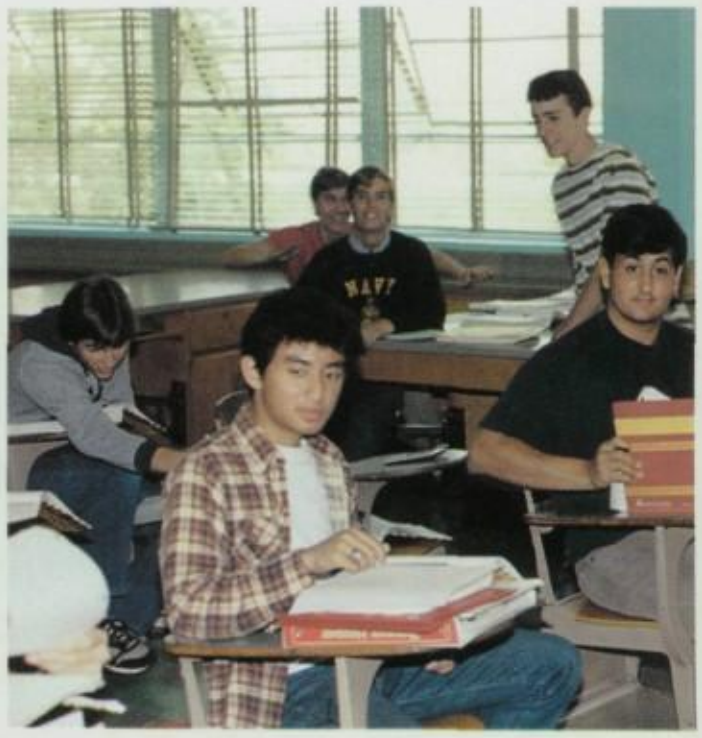




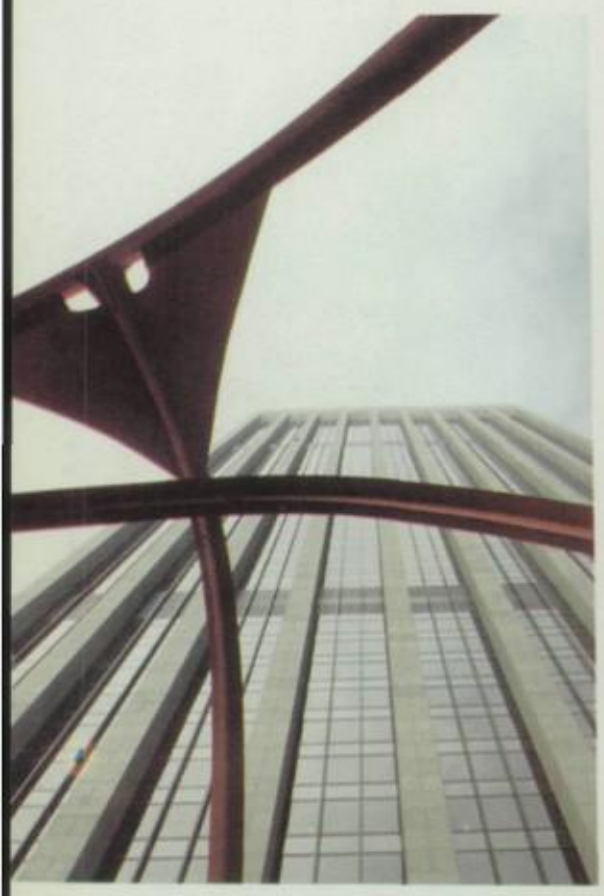


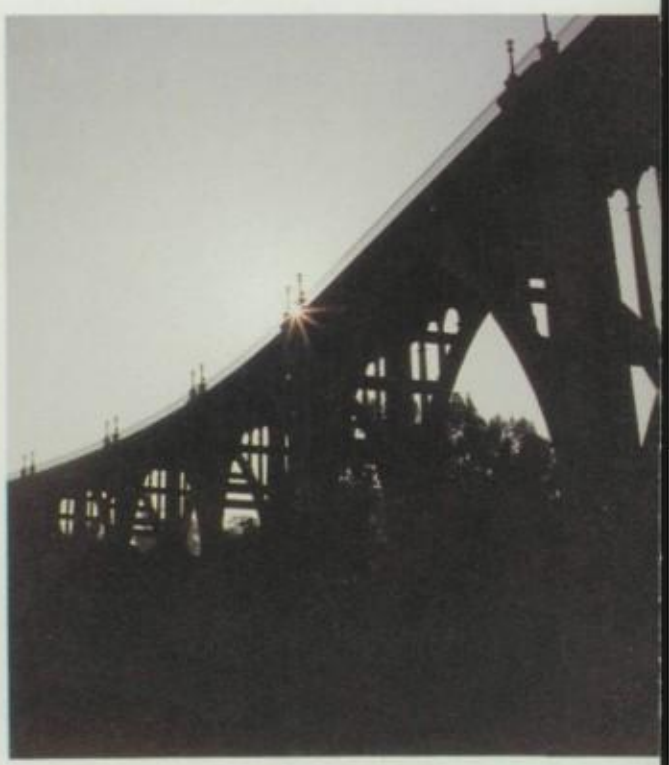


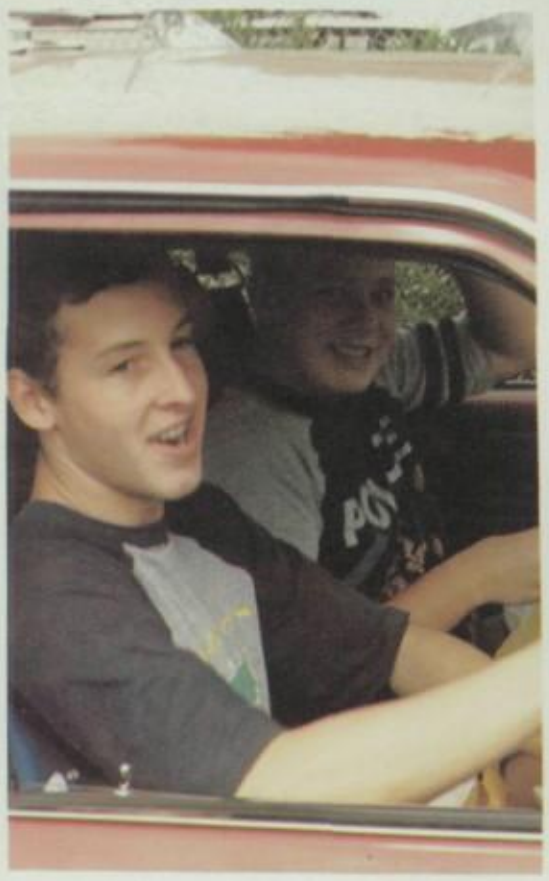
The beginning of the school year jolts the returning students out of their Summer vegetable mode, and it instills in the new freshmen true Christian humility as they stumble headlong through Algebra tests and term papers, groping desperately for their own identity. All of the students are suddenly drawn into the all-too-real holocaust of homework and tests. Piled on top of the academics are the clubs, activities, sports teams, student council meetings, and retreats. Once the students get home, they look to L.A., the outside world, yearning for arcades, parties, movies, and "true" life, all the while reassuring themselves that school is not the Grim Reaper.



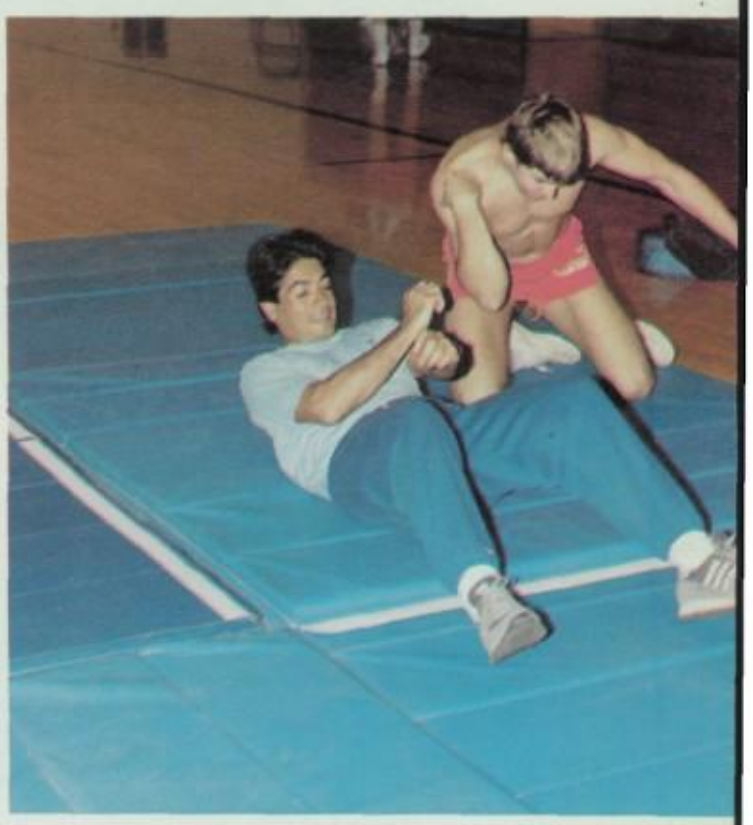
The constant attention required by academics often causes students to seek relief in many different forms. Perhaps this could take the form of launching wooden blocks in Physics. (Launching them out the window was merely an unfortunate consequence of the experiment.) And Tom Delaney never really wanted his rear fender, besides, Steve Peterson had a fun time removing it. However, students often feel the desire to simply relax by themselves in a peaceful environment that calms their spirits. A morning sunrise is a peaceful sight to see. (Hopefully not while jumping off.) It is through calm self-reflection at times such as this that the greatest personal gains are often made.

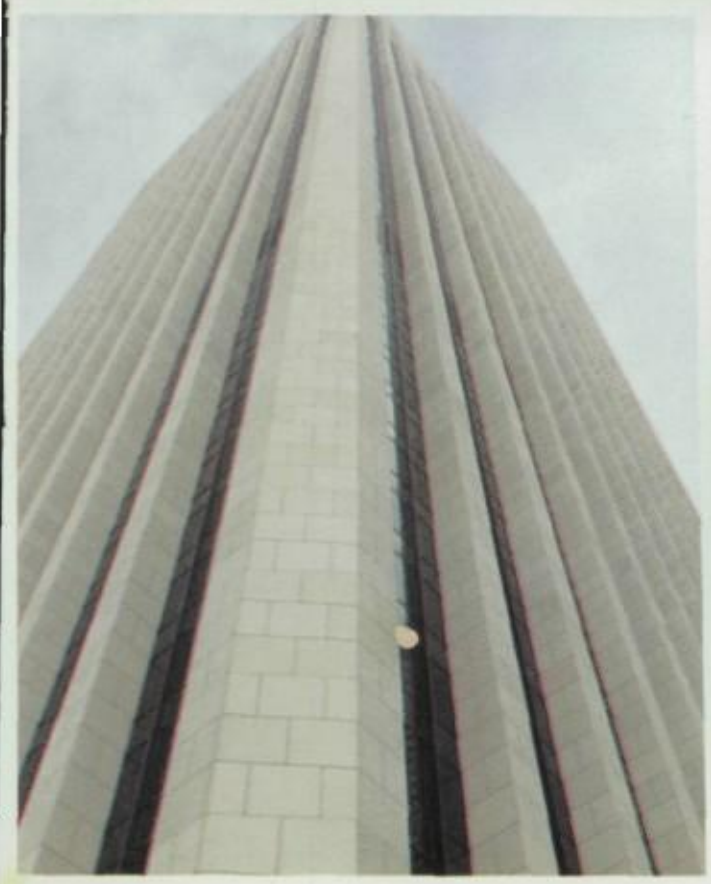






Both the students and the faculty here at La Salle live a life that is both fast and furious, yet always good-humored. Honestly, where else than our own gym floor could the wrestling match of the century be held? Student-Faculty interaction is necessary if the immobile problems of life are to be overcome. Often these problems may seem as monumentous as L.A. skyscrapers, yet through co-operation they can be leveled in order to reach one's goals.





Personal feelings are an important part of one's life, especially as an adolescent. The need to express these feelings is essential for personal satisfaction as well as a calm spirit. By expressing these to trained people such as priests, or just a friend, we as individuals can achieve a certain measure of assurance from and understanding on the part of others. Yet there also exists the need for self-acceptance, and this must be achieved only through self-reflection. This can take place anywhere, be it at the archery range in the Arroyo, or a bench in the courtyard. For, in true reality, the surrounding Los Angeles environment may be influencial and enjoyable, but it's life-in-the fast lane appearance draw one away from the need for personal reflection in order to maintain some measure of sanity.

Rising To The Bottom Of The Barrel

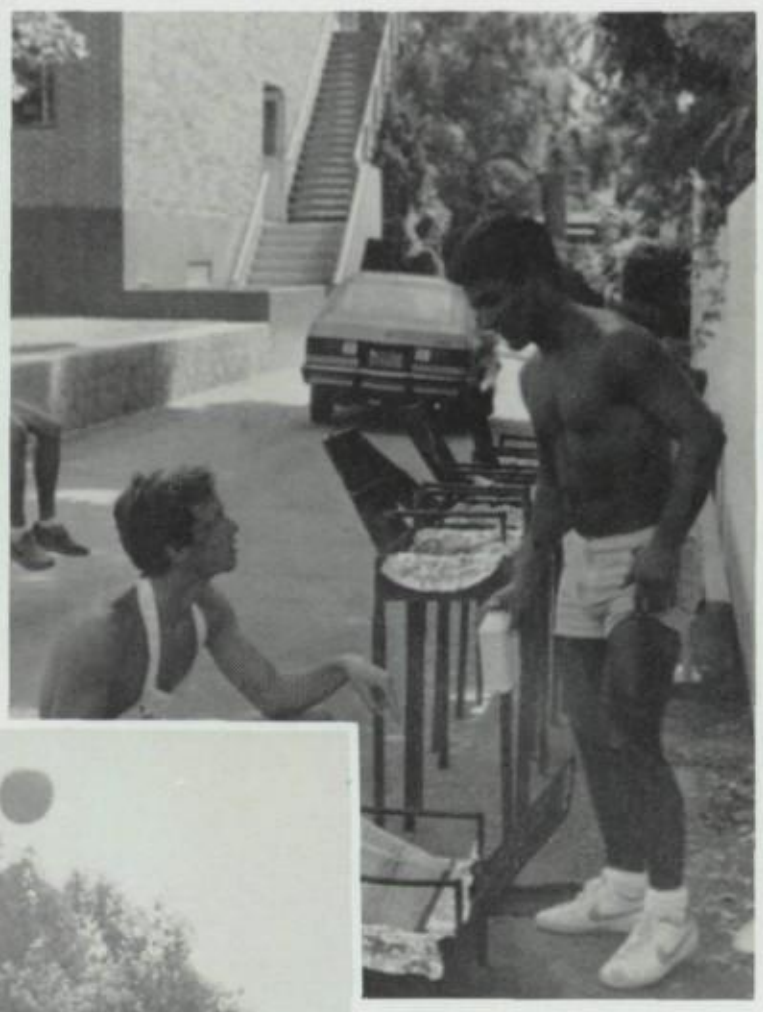
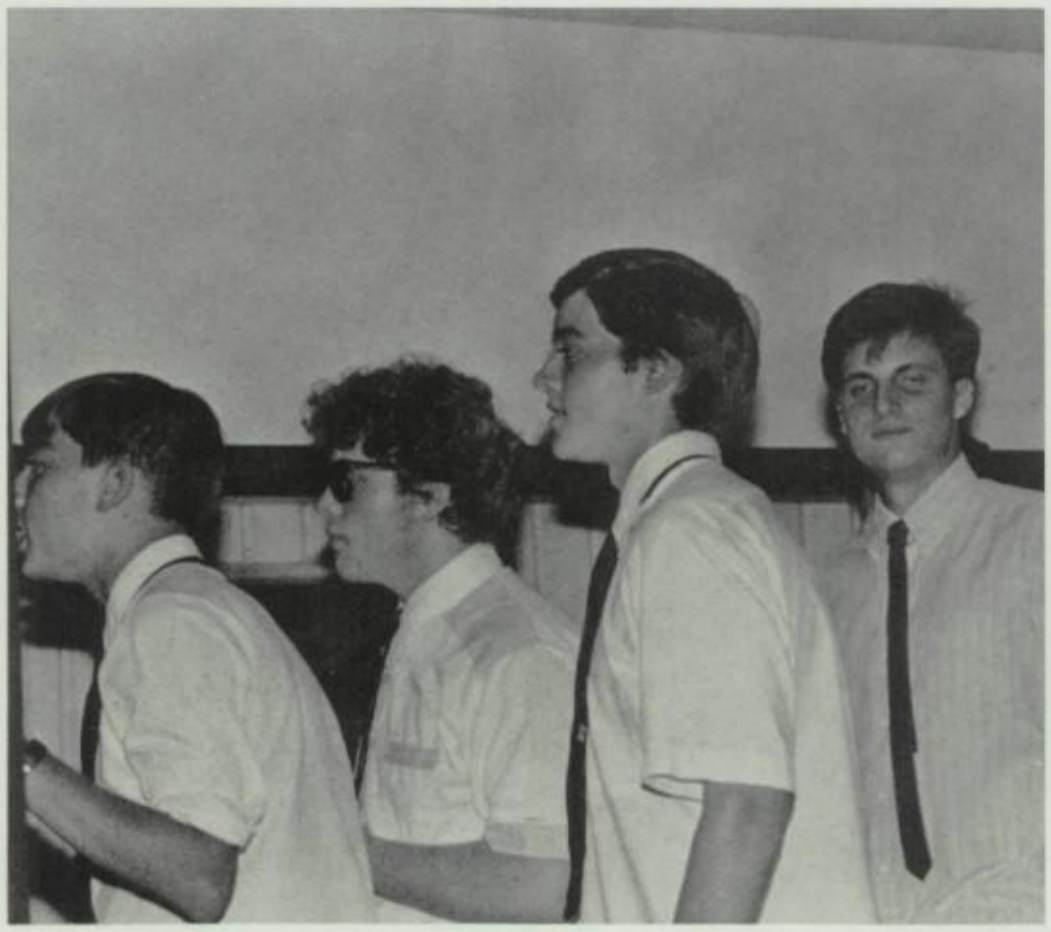
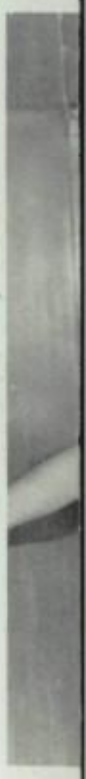
The incoming freshmen were treated to a peaceful initiation this year as they rose from the once prestigious position of an eighth-grader to the role of a humble freshman. After rousing matches of earthball, soccer, and volleyball, the seniors barbequed hot dogs for the freshmen to conclude the day's activities. The activities were well-organized which demonstrated the excellent pre-planning by the senior class council. And, once again, another class of frightened freshmen slipped easily off into the mass of underdeveloped underclassmen.



Beleaguered students look forward anxiously to the Friday rallies, and with them the weekend. These controlled "fun-times" give some relief from the repetitious monotony of the classes, and throw a little twist into the schedule. "Afternoon assembly schedule, let's see . . . , B, 1, 2, Break, 3, 4, Lunch, 5, Assembly, Dismissal . . . 34 minute classes, YEAH!!!!"





In the beginning of the school year, La Salle students find themselves in a variety of situations in a relatively short period of time. Waiting obediently in line for pictures, arguing (or begging) over grades, and playing alternative lifestyle roles all infiltrate the supposedly "normal" life of the La Salle student.

Even Mrs. Werner utilizes the proper day to live out her alter-ego.

Fully submerged into the upper division, Juniors begin to take on leadership roles in extra-curricular activities and athletics. As Jim Ryan prepares to fire the ball into the goal, so too, members of the Junior Class seriously persue the goal of Seniorhood and graduation on the distant horizon.

Experiencing concentrated academic pressure for the first time, Juniors draw in misery together to achieve success. Juniors spend their time before classes begin speculating on the difficulty of the forthcoming exam, last minute homework comparisons or a little socializing to lighten up the burdens of the day. Regardless of the situation, Junior Class spirit is always at a high level making La Salle a bright place.

For some Juniors, having an upper locker is a new experience. No more does one have to always be at the mercy of the upper division student with a top locker. This new situation provides a breath of fresh air and freedom. With this newly found freedom the only obstacle to make daily life a bit difficult is having to wade through the throngs of Freshman who outnumber the Juniors on the second floor.

Just as a bridge connects two separate land masses, so the junior year is a bridging year. The things of childhood are put away for good and quickly approaching decisions about one's future must soon be made. Studies take on an intensity not known previously, social life becomes more intricate and the sense of personhood becomes more evident to the Junior classman. While on this bridge of transition, the security of the past must be let go of to embrace the mysteries and delights of young adulthood.

Its twelve ten and they're speaking with their teacher! Getting hints about the upcoming test is worth a little less lunch time. Juniors face the reality that grades do count and one's future can be dependent upon them. Easy and frequent communication between students and faculty is one major strength of the La Salle Community.

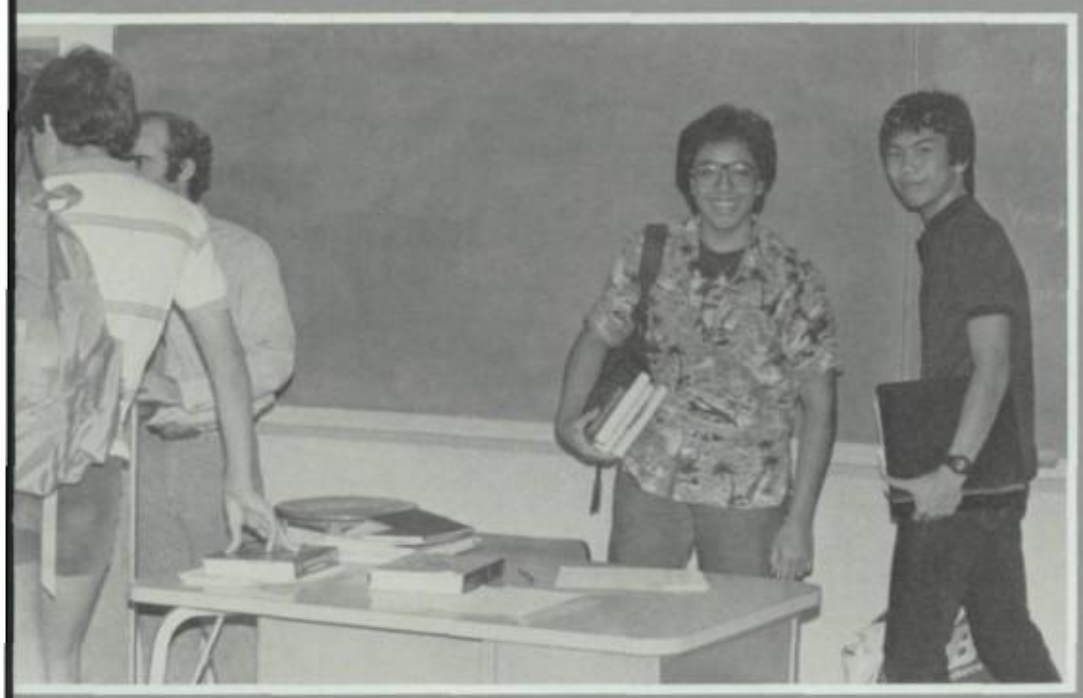
No Junior Class section would be complete without a picture of what has become to be known as the Junior Ghetto. It is here that the Juniors gather en masse to to share the agony and glories of student life. A little studying, a little throwing of milk carton basket-ball and alot of laughing characterize this gathering place.



Junior English introduces the eleventh graders to the world of American authors and thought. Literary form and style, vocabulary, research papers and tons of reading with an eye to United States History swirl within the minds of these fledging upper division students. The result is an awakened appreciation for the greats of American Literature.

Running To Victory

The Varsity Team is: Dave Rohan, Bryan Biggerstaff, Dave Wolfe, Guillermo Sanchez, Andy Chittum, Mike Gottardi, and Robert Rysdon.

Running is a sport that requires endurance to run the three mile course, as well as endurance to go at it alone. Cross Country is an individual effort as well as a team sport. The 1984 Varsity Team all ran alone- to achieve a team second place in the Santa Fe League, with a record of 5-1.

Seniors Guillermo Sanchez, Dave Wolfe, and Andy Chittum finished their High School Cross Country career with personal records of 15:05, 15:30, and 15.52, respectively, at Arcadia County Park. All other runners were consistently high finishers. The Lancers always performed well in Invitationals. They won the Northridge Invitational, as well as the Kenny Staub Invitational. The Team took home second place medals for their fine work at the prestigious Mount SAC Invitational.

The young runners of the Junior Varsity Cross-Country team ran far and high this year to win 5 out of 6 meets in which they participated. The young runners turned in very strong performances, with some coming close to all-time frosh records. These strong runners will provide excellent foundation for future varsity teams.

In water polo action this year, Coach "Uncle Joe" Shanahan lead the La Salle Sea Lions to a second place league title and their best season in six years. The Sea Lions came into this year prepared with the hunger and skill to win, supplied by a summer season at Mount San Antonio College. The polo team went 10-4 in league and 10-7 overall, outscoring opponents by 24 goals. Two spectacular games this season were the games between Pasadena High School and the last game against Flintridge Prep. La Salle beat the P.H.S. Bulldogs 14-12 at home, a marvelous upset; and, for the first time in six years, the Sea Lions defeated Flintridge at their own pool. The Sea Lion varsity squad is made up of 16 players with 37 Sea Lions all together; the biggest turnout ever!

Sea Pups

The Junior Varsity/Frosh-Soph water polo team had an excellent season this year. Good team spirit and great anticipation helped the Sea Lion Pups to capture a 10-0 league record. Out of the 13 games played, the team only gave up one loss in a close game against Blair High School. But with the guidance of Coach Jim Banis, and the determination to win, the young lions were able to show the cooperation and team work necessary for them to win almost all of their games.

Over by the Bookstore a strange mixing of Sophomores and Seniors takes place. Unwilling to relinquish their territory, the Seniors have learned to share their space with the new kids on the block. Sophomores are the photographers nightmare. It is almost impossible to get them to face the camera, or smile, or have any reasonable expression on their faces at all. But every so often a few can be caught as you see here with a smile, threatening look and the classic back shot.

The cafeteria is always bright and full of life each morning as table after table of Sophomores share breakfast fellowship together. Their meal consists of suger, sugar, and more sugar. This is why they are so full of laughter and energy. Panic only sets in on days of Biology tests and Spanish Vocabulary test days.

As in this picture of Los Angeles, the life of a Freshman is often a bit fragmented. The various demands made upon him in high school take some balancing and integration. As the fast pace of school academics, activities, and athletics whirl around, the lone Freshman often finds himself out of step with his surroundings. But, with the help of his teachers and fellow students, by mid-year Freshman begin to become confortable and manage their new pace of life at La Salle.

As with all La Salle students the major part of a Freshman's day is spent in class being introduced to the great ideas, techniques and questions of all times. As with all novices, Freshman begin their studies with enthusiasm, energy and cooperation. Even with all the serious studying, there is always a little room for a smile and a bit of fun.

Being oblivious to the world around them is a definite characteristic of being a Freshman student. One of the goals of high school education is to broaden perspective and insight into the world around them. As pictured here, every so often a Freshman rises out of unconsciousness to become aware of his surroundings.

Freshmen

Deep thought is essential to success here at La Salle. Often stressful in the beginning, Freshman come to see that brain power is necessary to triumph. Older La Salle students take for granted that everything will eventually be analyzed from the interior while Freshman are still attempting to pierce the surface of things.

Christmas Spirit Hits La

Salle

Christmas at La Salle is a joyful season that reflects a true appreciation of the religious meaning of Christmas, as well as the spirit of giving and sharing with one another. It is one of the most enjoyable seasons here at La Salle, and greatly appreciated by both the students and faculty, as it gives a well-deserved break from the academic pursuits.

"An Old Fashioned Christmas"

Celebrating The Mass

Every so often, students and faculty need to take a little time out to reflect on their spiritual relationship with their surroundings and their peers. The student body masses facilitate this need quite well. Through the preparation and effort of the Campus Ministry, the masses provide a spiritual experience for those involved and participating. The liturgies are an integral part of the spiritual and religious experience of La Salle High School, and are defenitely a necessary part of the school curriculum.

Melodious Music

Early every morning, when most students are just managing to stumble out of bed, the members of the band are here at La Salle preparing and practicing for upcoming rallies, assemblies, and concerts. Under the direction of Mr. Joseph Antonisamy, the Advanced, Jazz, and Beginning bands have tripled in size, and are performing at more functions than ever before. The caliber of music being performed has increased as well, thus testing the musical apptitude of the students. Morale in the bands is high, and the greater recognition they are receiving around the school gives the band members a greater sense of self-satisfaction and appreciation for their long hours of sacrifice.

Haunting The Hallways

In celebration of the approaching feast of All-Hallows, the halls of La Salle sported all kinds of ghosts, imitators and things that go bump in the night. The Senior Class banded together to present a variety of togas to call attention to their unity as a class. Even a number of faculty swung into the spirit dressing up in the latest mod and punk fashions. The Fall celebration continued that evening with participation in the second-annual Alveno/La Salle Haunted House. Entitled "Dawn of the Dead," students were accosted and badgered by room after room of a person's most dreadful nightmares come to life.

Shooting For Two

The Varsity Basketball team provided much excitement this year at the basketball games with daring exploits and supreme effort. Aside of fighting the other team during the game, the Lancers had to contend with injuries for a good portion of the season. Mr. John Matheus guided the team along with a rigorous practice schedule that proved its merit during the game when the teams abilities were put to the test. Spurred on by the encouragement of the cheerleaders and the crowd, the team worked and weaved its way down the court to provide an exciting spectacle for the team and the onlooking crowd.

Through another season of crowded bus trips, foreign locker rooms, and extended journeys to opposing school's gyms, La Salle's Junior Varsity Basketball Team struggled fiercely and fought hard in every one of their games. Under the leadership of their coach, Bill Fleckenstein, the Junior Lancers struck fear into their opponents as the colors of red and blue entered the court. Alert rebounds and fast breaks drove the team to each of their various victories. With players like Paul "Little Fella" Madarieta and Sean "The Sweller Feller" Mispagel, the J.V. Lancers were sure to have an excellent season. But whether the odds were against them, or luck was not on their side, their league record was a disappointing 3-9.

The Freshmen Basketball Team experienced a trying season as they attempted to learn the fundamentals of high school basketball. Even though the season record chalked up more losses than wins, the spirit and enthusasm demonstrated by these Freshman players was inspiring. This was a building year for the LaSalle Team.

LANCERS

Lady Lancers

Both the Varsity and J.V. Cheerleaders made appearances at many different La Salle sports functions as well as some rallies and assemblies. Their energetic and spirited cheers, backed by the spectators, spurred the teams on to victory. The cheerleaders have become somewhat of an institution at La Salle athletic functions and rallies, an aspect which pleases the students here at La Salle to no end. Their presence symbolizes one of the continuing attempts at interaction between the two schools on various social events. The Centurion staff would like to acknowledge and thank the Alverno cheerleaders for the time and effort they put into preparing for their appearances here at La Salle.

"Well sir, you should'a been there," that's all he could say, and rightfully too. With brilliant acting, beautiful stage design, great special effects, and a story line with themes that shake the very foundation of American life, you certainly should have been there; as many were. In four shows; three public performances, and one for the students and teachers of the participating schools, La Salle's production of "You Can't Take It With You" was seen by more than six hundred people. True talent and love for the art was shown by many of the young actors and actresses in this comedy. All did wonderful jobs with their roles in this play. Each night the audience was thrilled by the performance, while two audiences gave the play standing ovations.

Finally, a special thanks and acknowledgement goes to Br. Robert S. Walley, who worked, persevered, and succeeded in his first production.

LA SALLIAN SUPPORT GROUPS

La Salle Alumni who participated during this years Career Day in October.

La Salle High School is lucky to have a number of support-groups that contribute not only financial support, but spiritual and moral support in the work of Christian education. The Parents Association, under the co-presidentship of Mr. and Mrs. Blakeslee, sponsor many activities such as Communion-Breakfasts, the Holiday Botique, and refreshments for various functions. The Board of Regents, under the direction of Mr. Blackstock, is concerned with the total welfare of La Salle Mr. Blackstock, is concerned with the total welfare of La Salle especially in the area of policy and school direction for the future. The La Sallian Ambassadors with Mr. Hall as its head contributes financial support (The Big-Ten Sweepstakes) and public relations to the community-at-large. The Alumni Association, under the direction of Mr. Griffith, coordinates alumni events such as class reunions, supplies participants for the annual Career Day and sponsors the Alumni Day at the Races. These groups greatly contribute to the success of La Salle High School. On a special note, Mark Ruelas, Class of 1980, was honored by the La Salian Ambassadors for his exemplary living of the ideals of the La Salle Philosophy. Ruelas, a 1984 graduate from U.C. Irvine, was an All-American Distance Runner at Irvine and made the semi-finals for the U.S. Olympic Team.

TEEING OFF FOR 1985

As the "gentleman" of La Salle sports gets underway, the hallways are fille with talk of chipping, putting and handi-capping. With sporty outfits and bags of clubs in hand, the La Salle Golf Team makes its way to the various golf courses in the Pasadena area. Under the direction and inspiration of pro Father Dan the CIF Championship looks like a possibility as we write this copy. Skill and precision are the main qualities of a great golfer; attempting to get that little ball down that long fareway, onto that green, and in that little whole is the name of the game.

The 1985 edition of La Salle Tennis proves to be highly competitive. With many returning Seniors to the Varsity Team and highly experienced Juniors on the Junior Varsity Team, La Salle Tennis is alive and well. Under the direction of veteran coach Mrs. Labbe, tennis players can be seen daily practicing at the courts on Orange Grove in Sierra Madre. Home matches are played at the Arcadia Park Courts. With hopes of Wimbledon in their eyes, the spirit and enthusiasm of this year's players was in high gear.

"How about a nice cool dip in the pool?" Ask any Swim Team member and they will be glad to tell you about practice at 6:00 in the morning or those afternoons with chilly breezes. Braving cold water, goose-bumps and chlorine red eyes, the members of the La Salle Swim Team once again swam their way through another season. With Coach Joe Shanahan coaching the Alverno Swim Team, swim meets had an additional sparkle this year. In addition to swimming events, La Salle fielded a diving squad. Divers Dieter Gornig and Jay San Martin demonstrated their diving abilities with grace and excitement. As one of the many spring sports the La Salle Swim Team deserves much praise for their dedication to water sports.

The Third Time's A Charm

Soccer Clinches Third League Crown

This years Varsity Soccer Team was indeed awesome! A senior dominated team won it's third consecutive Santa Fe League crown, while at the same time moving up to the 2A division. The higher division still proved to be no match for the Mighty Lancers who managed to finish the season with a 17-0-1 record. Among other things, they broke the standing record for Most Goals Scored in a Single Season (120) by more than twenty goals, while holding their opponents to three goals. The Lancers began their C.I.F. bid with an impressive win over St. Monica's 9-1, en route to their third CIF championship. Playing outstandingly for the Lancers were Dave Palic and Alex Freitas who contributed greatly to the new record. Also playing well were Johnny Lima, Carlton Brand, and Steve Petersen, as well as the rest of the team. Goalies Fred Alvarado and Jay San-Martin played stupendously, coming up with brilliant saves at clutch times. We would like to congratulate the Varsity Soccer team for three consecutive titles, and another fine season.

Future Varsity

The Junior Varsity Soccer Team, like the Varsity Lancers, had a great season. Often shutting out their opponents, the Junior Varsity Lancers carried on the La Salle Soccer Dynasty. With most of the Varsity Team graduating this year, we can rest assured of continued soccer success from these fine players.

FROSH/SOPH SHOTS ON GOAL

Playing in the shadow of the top-rated Varsity and J.V. Soccer Teams, the Frosh/Soph Soccer Teams may be hardly noticed. But, these aspiring players will man the teams of the future carrying on La Salle's winning soccer tradition.

Blazing Sneakers

In the tradition of the great olympiads, the 1985 Track team showed true excellence as they ran, jumped, vaulted and hurled their way from victory to victory. Under the fine coaching of Mr. Don Blair and Mr. Kevin Brooks, the teams perfected their various talents that allowed them to achieve as well as they did at the meets. Strong performances were turned in by the Seniors on the team, and the performances of the Juniors, Sophomores, and Freshmen gave evidence that future teams will be outstanding as well.

The 1985 track team members are: (Varsity) Arnel Aquino, Erich Braun, Michael Gottardi, Dave Rohan, Bill Young, Luis Castro, Tim Sides, Paul Glenn, Ed Ruano, Karl Baumer, Rhonel Aquino, John Riley, Tim Medina, Andy Chittum, Tae Kim, Ronnie Baker, Jim Bonaccorso, Carlton Brand, Jim Hawkins. # LE CERCLE FRANCAIS

A new club here at La Salle this year is the French Club under the inspiration of Ms. Ahl. The purpose of the club is to promote French culture among French students and for the Student Body in general. The club members are as follows: Brian Gerritsen, Robbie Lindauer, Steven Ballew, Stephen Gilbreth, Adam Alcorn, Art Hendricks and Darren Carney.

Campus Ministry

Once again, the ever-present Campus Ministry program initiated several charitable donation and service campaigns this year. During the Thanksgiving season, they delivered hundreds of pounds of food as well as a large sum of money to the poor and disadvantaged families along L.A.'s skid row area and the Christian Brothers schools in Guatemala. Also, the Peer Facilitator program was in operation, giving students a chance to talk to one of their classmates about any problems they might have. The usual array of liturgies was also provided all throughout the year, giving the students and faculty a chance to reflect on their spiritual awareness.

Under the direction and guidance of Brother Tim and Brother James, the Core Team and all of the volunteers provided an excellent ministry program for the students.

PURSUING POLITICS

The 1984-85 ASB, under the leadership of Dieter Gornig, has been very active in promoting the traditional La Salle Activities and initiating relations with girls schools in the Pasadena area. In addition to the usual round of dances, rallies and candy-grams, the ASB hosted two exchange days: one in October with Westridge and one in December with Mayfield. Both days involved ASB from the girls school visiting La Salle to experience a typical day, a student council meeting and a specially prepared lunch by Bobby De Groot. Other signs of success was a picnic jointly sponsored with Alverno during September, an evening volleyball game with Westridge, and over eighty couples in attendance at the annual Snoball in December. Student Council Meetings experienced a revival this year, providing a representative forum for discussion of upcoming activities and other issues that concerned the school community. ASB Officers not only participated in Student Council activities but were active participants in Water Polo, Basketball, Soccer, Theatre Arts, and Campus Ministry.

LANCER MEDIA

This year's Lance Newspaper brought La Salle an insightful and thought-provoking blend of news, features, and sports. The Lance began this year by recruiting and training a new staff of writers, editors, and layout artists. This staff set about the task of bringing journalism to a new, higher level of achievement. With the opening of the "Lance Locker" for letters to the editor, the staff allowed for excellent communication with the students. Entertaining the students with pictures of their teachers at age 17, and challenging the students on key issues were integral parts of every Lance publication. With photography from the yearbook darkroom, the Lance staff produced a newspaper that showed insight and thought about La Salle's major events. Moderator Barbara Talavan and Editor-in-Cheif Bob Koskovich made this year's Lance an innovative and fresh newspaper, and definitely something to be proud of.

Major League Masters

The 1985 Lancer Varsity Baseball team was in winning form this year as they demonstrated true skill and excellence while overpowering their opponents. Strong Lancer pitching was backed up by an awesome battery of hitting power that racked up the runs and left the opponents in awe. Under the skillful guidance of Mr. Tom Cano, the mixed team of juniors and seniors performed well under the stress and pressures of the game situations. The inspiring play and outstanding performances of this year inspires the slogan; "Lancer Baseball: Catch it!!!"

Burning Up the Basepads

The J.V. Baseball team was a force to be reckoned with this year, as they showed outstanding skill and prowess in their pursuit of becoming Varsity studs. The team, composed of sophomores and juniors brought a new dimension to "undergraduate" baseball. Their success has been somewhat overshadowed by the publicity awarded to the varsity team, but they have put in quite a bit of effort, and the Centurion staff would like to congratulate them for their hard work.

Lancer Minor League

The Baseball Program here at La Salle is alive and well with a great turnout for this year's Freshman Team. Working on pitching, batting and base-running the Lancer farm club worked hard on learning the fundamentals to man the successful La Salle baseball teams in the future. The Freshman Baseball Team spent most of their season on the road, but every so often they played a game on home turf to the awe of their fellow classmen.

JERKS

RALLY 'ROUND THE ALMA MATER

All throughout the week students look forward to the Friday afternoon pep rallies (and the 34 minute classes) that brought a brief spark of life to the student body. This year's rallies were especially creative, with a championship wrestling match of epic proportions as well as a brutal session with "Wally George" and the hot seat, complete with armed guards and psycodelic "jerks" for guests. Along with cheerleader routines and numbers performed by the band, these rallies demonstrated outstanding support for the athletic teams. The diversity that this type of break in routine gives an interesting aspect to the normal school day. But, the big question remains; Did Chris Kealey and Dean Haney cheat in the baby-bottle Coke-drinking contest? (Seniors cheat? Never!!!)

Honor Roll 1st CERTIFICATE HONORS

Honor Roll 2nd CERTIFICATE HONORS

During the course of the school year, the La Salle Student Body and Faculty gather to honor those students who distinguish themselves academically by achieving a 3.00 GPA or higher on their Semester Report Cards. Students who participate and distinguish themselves in athletics are also honored. La Salle is not a set of buildings or a place solely on the Pasadena city map but a living community of people who give of their academic and athletic talents to make La Salle the strong school that it is. These Academic and Athletic Assemblies serve to reward, encourage and inspire faculty and students alike.

Dancing The Night Away

The La Salle Lancers and invited schools did indeed dance the night away. The Duffy Lewis Gymnasium was home for three successful dances while the Marine Base Hall was the sight for the 1984 Snow Ball. The A.S.B. Council hosted the 1984 Freshmen Welcome Dance to make the Class of '88 a part of La Salle. This dance, along with the Senior Class of '85's dance, was D.J'ed by none other than KROQ's Katy Manor. On Friday, November 30, the La Salle Gym was transformed into a Rock 'n' Rhythm hall, featuring KNAC Mobil Music D.J.'s, complete with a dance contest and prize giveaways. Each one of these dances was very successful and raised a profit for the group who sponsored it.

Chaos Revisited

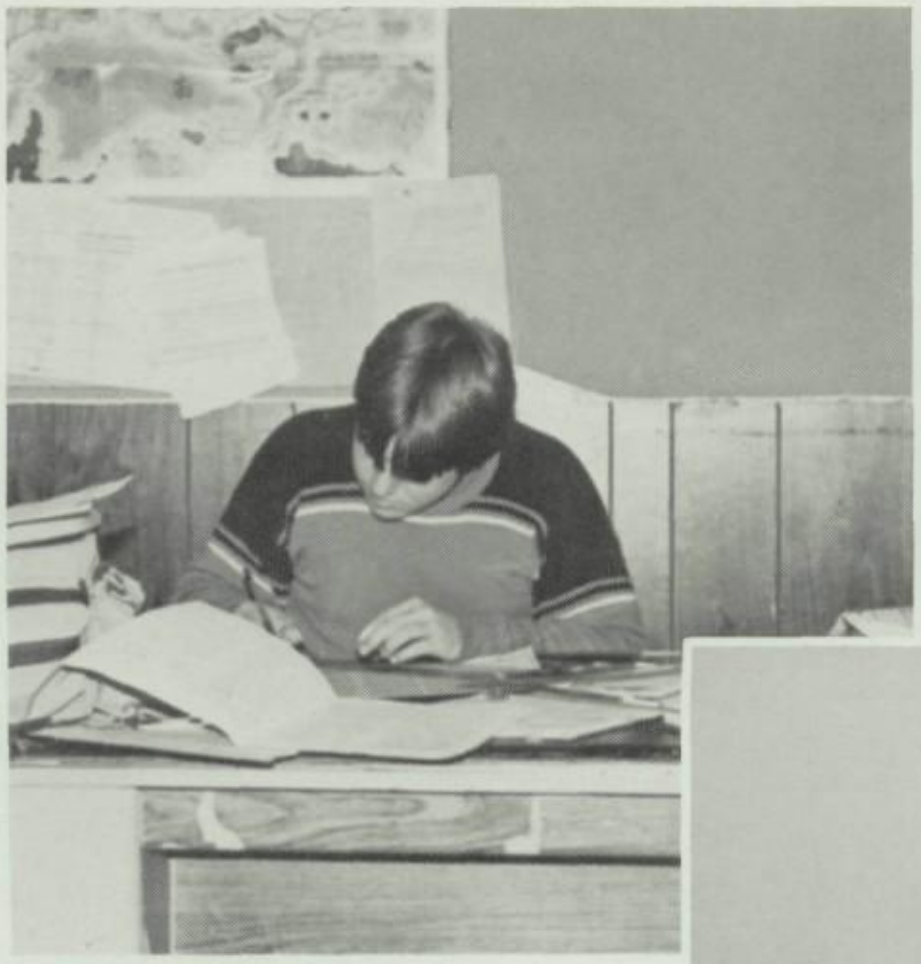
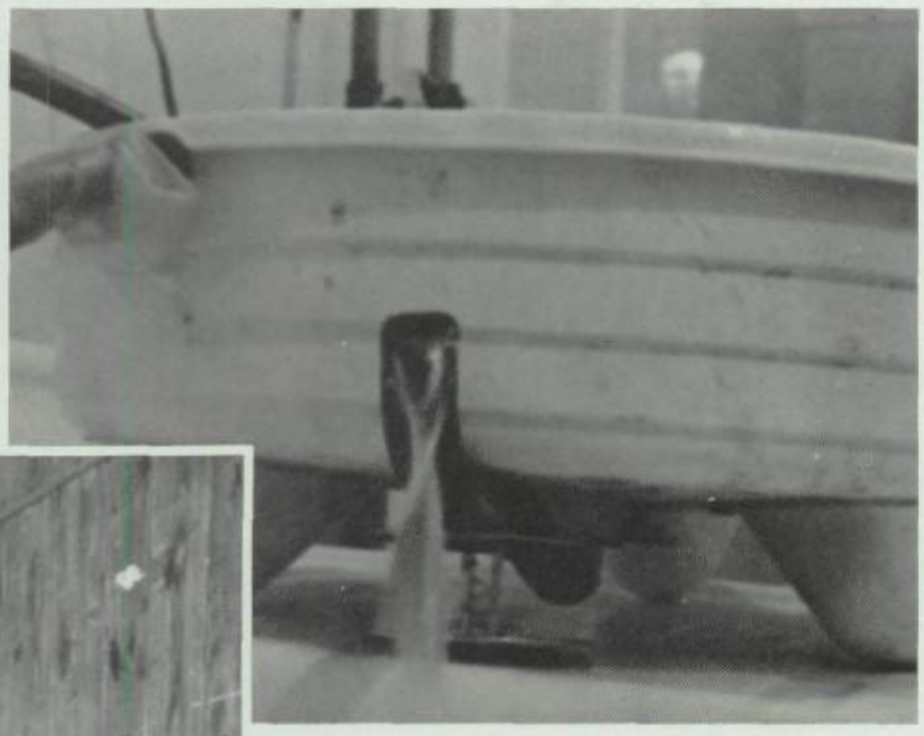
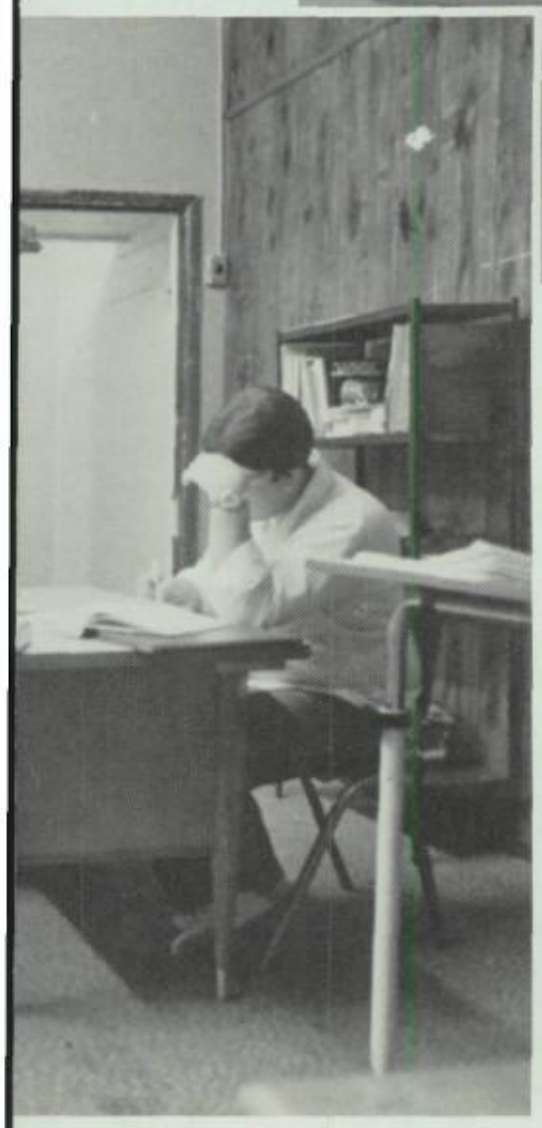
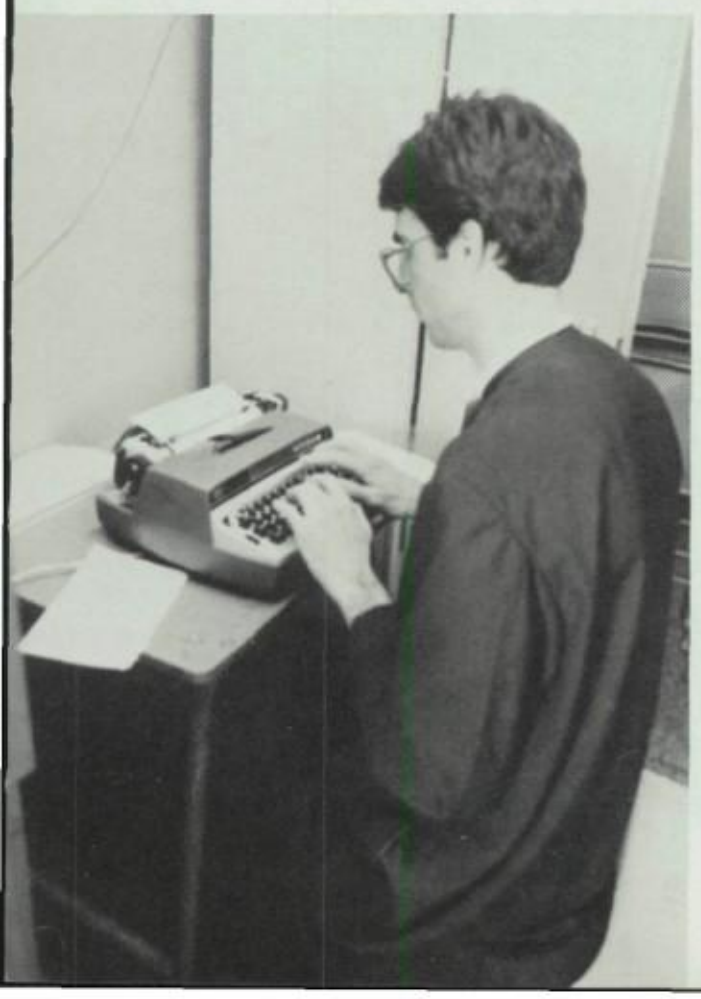
The 1985 Centurion staff was hard at work again this year assimilating the various elements necessary to produce a top-quality yearbook. This year's staff worked long and hard on their deadlines, putting to use all of their experience in yearbook production. The photo staff produced awesome photos (If they remembered to put film in their cameras - ANDY!!!) such as the cover photo for this year's book. The layout staff designed the pages themselves, and their creativity complemented the picture content to produce outstanding final pages. A yearbook does not arise out of nothing, (Although we're not quite sure where it does come from) and it requires a great deal of work. By putting in long hours of work after school, and on weekends, the dedicated staff insured the book's quality. (Or lack thereof)









Each afternoon, as the clock winds towards 2:12, most students anxiously await getting out of school for the day and moving on to personal pursuits. But for the Centurion yearbook staff, the work here at school still continues. Each day after school, they go about gathering and producing the elements that compose an excellent yearbook. The outstanding Centurion photo staff takes photos each and every day, giving the staff an immense proportion of photographs to draw from in designing their pages. In fact, the photo staff takes in excess of 1,000 photographs each year. Only 1/3 of these pictures ever make it into the book. The layout staff members have won merit and excellence awards at Josten's yearbook camps and seminars, and put this knowledge of page design to good use. They put in long hours after school, usually until 4 or 5 in the evening, and sometimes as late as 9 or 10. The staff members also gave up much of their own free time on weekends to make sure that all deadlines were met. Under the guidance of Brother Steven, the staff provided an outstanding book that has gradually shown over previous years. It is because of the staffs effort and extra time, as well as the student's support that items such as our own self-designed cover were possible.

THROUGH THEIR FINANCIAL AND ORGANIZATIONAL SUPPORT, THE PARENTS ASSOCIATION PLAYS A VITAL ROLE IN THE SUCCESS OF THE VARIOUS ACTIVITIES HERE AT LA SALLE.

SAINT BROTHER MIGUEL

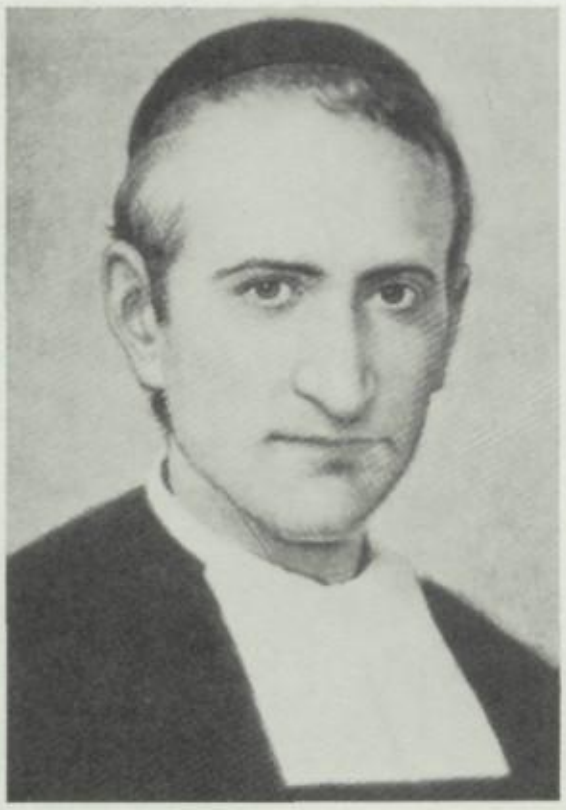
BORN AT CUENCA, ECUADOR
NOVEMBER 7, 1854

DIED FEBRUARY 9, 1910



ENTERED RELIGIOUS LIFE
MARCH 24, 1868

CANONIZED IN ROME
OCTOBER 21, 1985

Francisco Febres Cordero Muñoz was born November 7, 1854, to a prominent family in Cuenca, Ecuador. Young Francisco seemed especially blessed by God. At the age of five he supported himself on his own legs for the first time at the very moment when he saw a vision of the Blessed Mother in his family's courtyard. At the age of eight, while at play with his companions, he was attacked by a wild bull. However, he emerged completely unhurt from the apparent mauling.

Francisco enrolled in the Christian Brothers' school in 1863. The Brothers had shortly before been invited into the country by the Ecuadorian president, Garcia Moreno. Francisco's parents, after considerable misgivings, allowed their talented son to follow the vocation of his teachers. In 1868 he became known as Brother Miguel in honor of one of his favorites, the Archangel Michael.

Brother Miguel spent the next 32 years as a teacher and an inspector in the Brothers' El Cebollar School inQuito, capital of Ecuador. His year-end public examinations of students attracted the presence and praise of many townspeople.

Brother Miguel published the first of many textbooks at the age of 17! His firm grasp of pedagogical principles influenced the Ecuadorian government to adopt many of these texts for schools throughout the republic. The quality of his books on grammar and philology led to Brother Miguel's election, in 1892, to the national Academy of Letters. He translated several volumes from French to Spanish, one of his works being a life of St. John Baptist De La Salle. This book drew attention in South America to the canonization of the Brothers' founder in 1900. Brother Miguel's other literary works included odes, hymns, and occasional plays.

Each year for three decades Brother Miguel, so much at home in the presence of the literary giants of his day, found nothing more important than personally preparing the youth of Quito for their First Holy Communion. For them he wrote manuals of piety, gave them religious instruction, conducted retreats. His learning, holiness, and fidelity to his religious family led to his selection as Director of Novices (1901-3), a position he felt unworthy to hold.

In 1907 Brother Miguel was assigned to the Brothers' general motherhouse in Belgium in order to devote his full efforts to revising his textbooks for use in various Spanish-speaking countries. En route he briefly visited New York City in early April.

Illness caused his transfer from Belgium in 1908 to the warmer climate of the Brothers' school in Premia de Mar, near Barcelona, Spain. Anarchist riots and failing health disrupted his writing and editing. He died of pneumonia on February 9, 1910. When his body was returned to Ecuador, it was interred with considerable public ceremony. In the centenary of his birth, 1954, the Ecuadorian government issued postage stamps and erected a monument to honor Brother Miguel's services to God and to country.

IN GRATITUDE TO GOD
THE CHRISTIAN BROTHERS COMMUNITY
OF LA SALLE HIGH SCHOOL
ON THE OCCASSION OF THE CANNONIZATION
OF BROTHER MIGUEL, EXTEND PRAYERS AND CONGRATULATIONS TO THE
